At the back

$$
\begin{aligned}
& \text { of every } \\
& \text { form room, the } \\
& \text { lockers are like a wall } \\
& \text { of upright coffins: such a } \\
& \text { dumb idea because they're } \\
& \text { just tall enough for } \\
& \text { a Year Seven boy to } \\
& \text { be squashed into, but } \\
& \text { only if he bends both } \\
& \text { his knees a bit, just a tiny } \\
& \text { (agonising) five degrees } \\
& \text { or so. They are in fact } \\
& \text { so thin that a boy my } \\
& \text { size can only just } \\
& \text { expand his ribs } \\
& \text { enough to suck } \\
& \text { thin sips of air } \\
& \text { & maybe it's } \\
& \text { a design fault } \\
& \text { they should } \\
& \text { really have } \\
& \text { considered: } \\
& \text { that lockers } \\
& \text { are only un } \\
& \text { locked from } \\
& \text { the outside: } \\
& \text { & then only }
\end{aligned}
$$

